The Science and Mathematics Faculty in the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts (CISA) on the Polytechnic Campus at Arizona State University invites applications for a Lecturer position to start in August of the 2019-2020 academic year. The successful candidate will provide instruction in the Applied Biological Sciences (Wildlife Ecology) degree program. Courses will be on subject matter such as: Habitat Management for Small Wildlife, International Wildlife Conservation, Life History of Mammals, Ecology and Adaptations of Vertebrates, and General Biology. Course assignments are at the undergraduate/graduate levels, and may occur in a variety of modalities (online, on-ground, hybrid), on the Polytechnic campus. The course load is determined by the faculty head and typically consist of four classes per semester. The successful candidate will also be expected to participate in service to the institution, college, unit and profession as appropriate. Such participation may include helping to advise student clubs, student team competitions at conferences, and committee participation. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure eligible position renewable on an academic year basis contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university. Salary is competitive commensurate with experience. Candidate must reside in Arizona, or be willing to relocate. For more information please visit https://cisa.asu.edu/.

Required Qualifications:

- Terminal degree in Wildlife Biology, Ecology, or related fields at time of appointment
- Working knowledge, field experience, and training in wildlife biology, ecology, and/or management of natural resources
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness
- Excellent English written and spoken communication skills
- Stated commitment meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities

Desired Qualifications:

- Experience in working with federal and state agencies as well as private organizations who have a role in the management of natural resources
- Experience mentoring students on internships, research, honors theses, or non-traditional projects
- Demonstrated ability to communicate scientific ideas and discoveries to diverse audiences
- Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively in a team environment including academic service
- Curriculum development expertise
- Experience teaching online courses
- Experience in course management systems such as Canvas
