The Language and Cultures faculty in the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts Arizona State University invites applications for an Instructor for the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate will teach five English and composition courses per semester, with a course load determined by the faculty head. In addition, the successful candidate will integrate the use of technology in first-year composition courses; work alongside faculty in Humanities, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences in order to provide students in those disciplines a solid set of writing skills to create texts appropriate to their chosen professions; and participate in an ongoing development of curriculum for first-year composition courses including developmental courses, advanced course, and courses for non-native speakers of English. Course assignments are at the undergraduate level, and may occur in a variety of modalities (online, on-ground, hybrid), on the Downtown Phoenix campus. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure eligible position renewable on an academic year basis contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university. Salary is competitive commensurate with experience. Candidate must reside in Arizona, or be willing to relocate. For more information, please visit https://cisa.asu.edu/.

Required Qualifications:

- Master’s degree in Rhetoric and Composition, or related field, at time of appointment
- Two years of experience teaching post-secondary courses in English composition courses
- Experience in collaborative teaching and learning
- Evidence of excellent teaching ability; excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Experience developing and using technology-enhanced curriculum

Desired Qualifications:

- Terminal degree in English or related field, at time of appointment
- Evidence of professional development activities and program development
- Experience teaching students whom English is a second language
- Experience teaching developmental English
- Evidence of presentations at professional conferences
- Evidence of scholarly or creative activity related to the candidate’s field

Application Procedure:
To apply, visit https://cisa.asu.edu/jobs and upload your application as one combined .pdf document under job number 12052. Only electronic submissions will be reviewed. Incomplete applications will not be considered. Applications must contain:

1. A letter of interest outlining their scholarly agenda and qualifications and experience as it relates to the position
2. Curriculum vitae
3. Evidence of teaching effectiveness
4. Information for three professional references (their position, title, e-mail, phone number)

The application deadline is 07/25/2017 at 5pm; and if not filled, then every Friday thereafter until the search is closed. Official Transcripts required prior to first day of employment. A background check is required prior to employment. General Information: Arizona State University is a comprehensive public research university named #1 in the United States for innovation for the second consecutive year, followed by #2 Stanford and #3 MIT. We measure our success not by whom we exclude, but rather by whom we include and how they succeed; advancing research and discovery of public value; and assuming fundamental responsibility for the economic, social, cultural and overall health of the communities we serve. ASU’s College of Integrative Sciences and Arts is home to innovative teachers who are guided by educational access, student success, applied learning, and interdisciplinary inquiry. We understand there are many paths to achieving a university education, and we build undergraduate and graduate degree programs and pathways that are flexible and relevant for a rapidly changing world. To learn more about ASU and the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts go to: http://about.asu.edu/ and http://cisa.asu.edu.
