

The Science, Mathematics and Social Science faculty in the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts on the Downtown Phoenix Campus at Arizona State University invites applications for an Instructor for the 2019-2020 academic year. The successful candidate will provide instruction in the areas of mathematics and may include college algebra, college mathematics, pre-calculus for the life sciences, and elements of statistics. Teaching first-year mathematics courses will involve instruction in a redesigned, student-centered format with few or no lectures. This position will also develop course syllabi according to university and discipline standards, assign and grade assignments and maintains student records as well as reviewing and evaluating effectiveness of teaching methods and work activities. Course assignments are at the graduate/undergraduate levels, and may occur in a variety of modalities (online, on-ground, hybrid), on the Downtown Phoenix campus. The course load is determined by the faculty head and typically consist of five classes per semester. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure eligible position renewable on an academic year basis contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university. Salary is competitive commensurate with experience. Candidate must reside in Arizona, or be willing to relocate. For more information please visit <https://cisa.asu.edu/>.

Required Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Mathematics, at time of appointment
- One year of teaching experience in first year mathematics
- Experience using technology for mathematics, including appropriate software and simulations during classroom discussions
- Evidence of teaching effectiveness
- Excellent English written and spoken communication skills
- Stated commitment meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities

Desired Qualifications:

- Terminal degree in Mathematics or related field, at time of appointment
- Two years of mathematics and lower-division statistics teaching experience
- Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively in a team environment within and across disciplines
- Teaching experience in large enrollment program
- Interest in mathematics education
- Experience teaching mathematics in a redesigned format that consists of content delivered in a digital mode, face-to-face classes dedicated to student problem-solving activities, and working with students in a one-to-one computer lab environment as well as a traditional classrooms setting.
