The Interdisciplinary Humanities & Communication faculty in the College of Integrative Sciences and Arts on the Polytechnic campus at Arizona State University invites applications for a Lecturer for the 2017-2018 academic year. The successful candidate must be able to provide instruction in the areas of history of engineering, history of science, and survey courses in western civilization and global history, as well as develop additional courses in conjunction with candidate expertise and programmatic needs. Course assignments are at the graduate/undergraduate levels, and may occur in a variety of modalities (online, on-ground, hybrid, 7.5 semester, 15 week semester), on the Polytechnic campus. In addition to a typical course load of four (4) courses a semester, the successful candidate will also be expected to participate in service to the institution and profession as appropriate. Course load is determined by the faculty head. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure eligible position renewable on an academic year basis contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university. Salary is competitive commensurate with experience. Candidate must reside in Arizona, or be willing to relocate. For more information please visit https://cisa.asu.edu/.

Required Qualifications:

- Terminal degree in History, at time of appointment
- Demonstrated ability to teach upper-division courses in the history of engineering, history of science, western civilization, and global history
- Evidence of two years’ post-secondary teaching excellence in online and on-site classes
- Excellent English written and verbal communication skills

Desired Qualifications:

- Willingness and ability to develop courses in the history of religion and/or ideas
- Willingness and ability to advise bachelor-level students with non-American research project topics
- Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively in a team environment

General Information: Arizona State University is a comprehensive public research university named #1 in the United States for innovation for the second consecutive year, followed by #2 Stanford and #3 MIT. We measure our success not by whom we exclude, but rather by whom we include and how they succeed; advancing research and discovery of public value; and assuming fundamental responsibility for the economic, social, cultural and overall health of the communities we serve. ASU’s College of Integrative Sciences and Arts is home to innovative teachers who are guided by educational access, student success, applied learning, and interdisciplinary inquiry. We understand there are many paths to achieving a university education, and we build undergraduate and graduate degree programs and pathways that are flexible and relevant for a rapidly changing world.
