

Sparky Slam

A poetry slam celebrating youth voices

ASU's Sparky Slam is a valley-wide poetry contest featuring original work by students in grades 5-12. The purpose of the Sparky Slam is to welcome young people onto a college campus, to celebrate youth voices, and to provide young artists with writing support from ASU faculty and students. This year, a writing workshop will take place immediately before the competition.

Saturday, Feb. 2, 2019

ASU's West campus

Herberger Young Scholars Academy (HYSA), Black Box Theatre
4825 University Way North, Phoenix

asu.edu/map

- 5 p.m. Poet sign-in (registered and waitlisted poets)
- 5 - 5:45 p.m. Workshop time for poets (get feedback on your poem from an ASU writing mentor) and pizza
- 5:45 p.m. Doors open to the public
- 6 p.m. Sparky Slam begins

For poet registration and contest rules, visit cisa.asu.edu/Sparky-Slam

Questions? Contact the event organizers:
Wendy Williams, assistant professor of English education,
College of Integrative Sciences and Arts
Wendy.R.Williams@asu.edu
Sabrina Switzer-Wareing, director of theatre and special events,
Herberger Young Scholars Academy
Sabrina.Switzer@asu.edu

Emceed by Tomas Stanton of Phonetic Spit

Sponsored by

Herberger Young Scholars
Academy at the Mary Lou Fulton
Teachers College

College of Integrative Sciences and Arts

cisa.asu.edu

ASU Arizona State
University